

THE DUBLIN REVIEW.

86

THIRD SERIES.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,
DETROIT, MICH.

SEP. 17 1888

JANUARY — APRIL.

MDCCCLXXX.

LONDON: BURNS & OATES.

DUBLIN: M. H. GILL & SON.

—
1880.

ART.

ART.

ART.

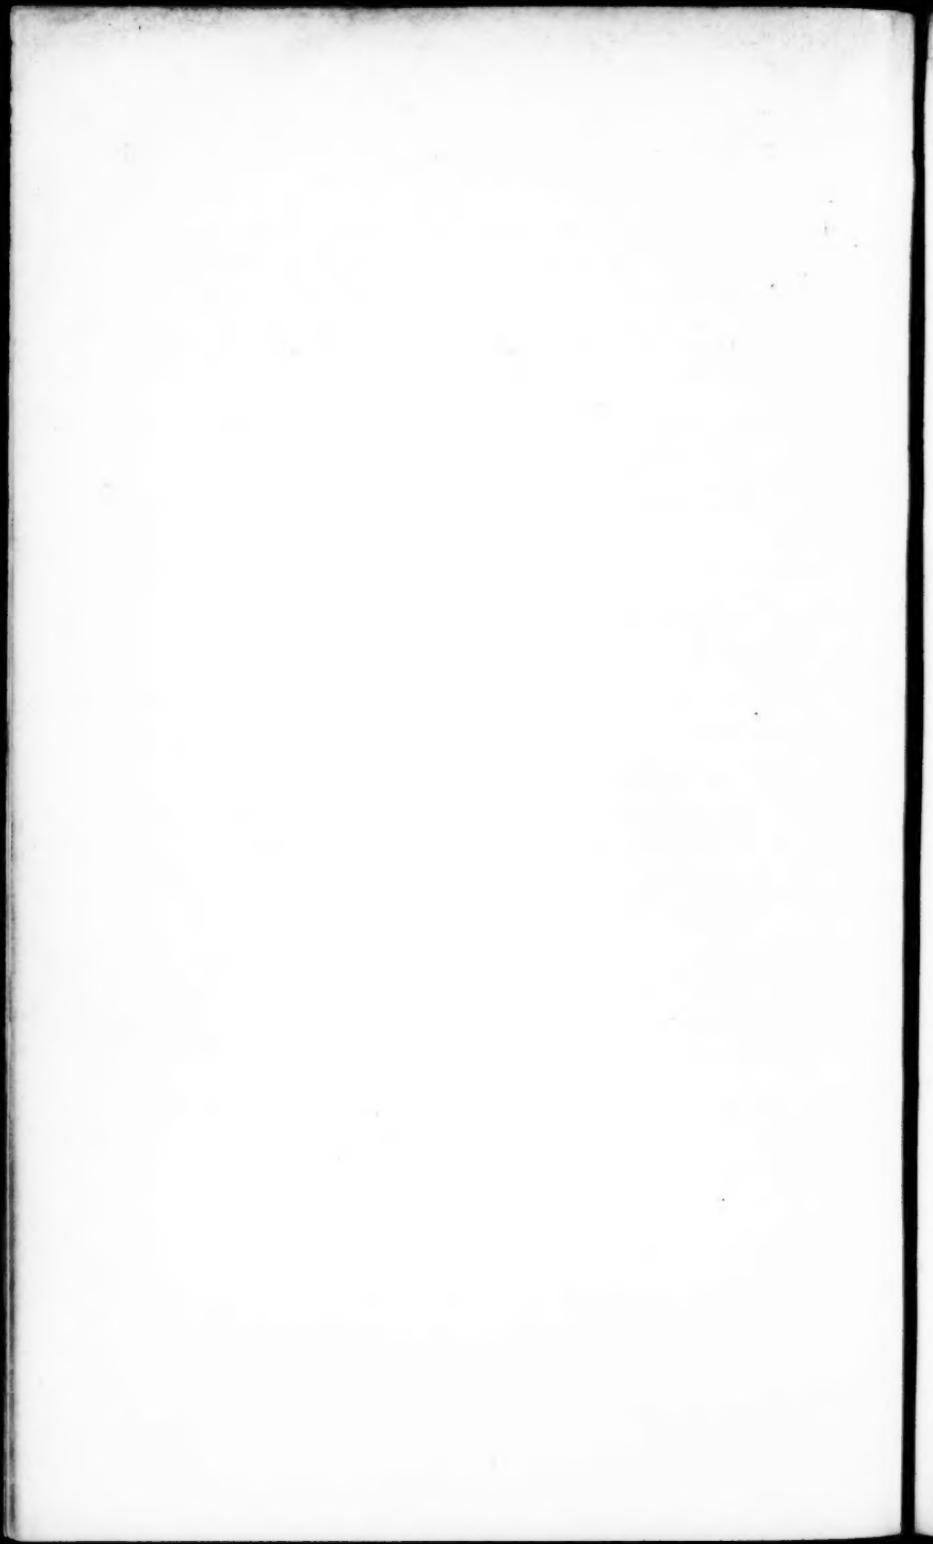

ART.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
ART. I.—MAURITIUS	1
Description of Port Louis—And of the Island: its mountains and scenery—Its history—Various nationalities resident in it—Creole patois —Climate and epidemics—Sugar produce—Method of obtaining Coolies—And their work—The true Paul and Virginia.
ART. II.—MR. HERBERT SPENCER'S "SYSTEM OF PHILOSOPHY"	26
Ambiguous character of the "System"—Mr. Spencer on Idealism—His criticisms of its assumptions—Of the terms and reasonings of metaphysicians—Of Kant's "Space and Time"—Mr. Spencer's proofs for Realism—His search for a universal postulate—His differentiation of subject and object—His "transfigured Realism" is only Idealism—It denies absolute human knowledge—Summary of results.
ART. III.—THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY	74
Condition of European thought—French philosophism and Locke—Voltaire and his writings—Rousseau—Causes of the success of the philosophes : decadence of morality—And of religion—And inability of the French clergy to resist Voltairism—Rousseau supplies the religion of philosophism—It is tested by the degradation of woman.
ART. IV.—ETHICS IN ITS BEARING ON THEISM	101
The authority of intuitions—Intuitions necessary for philosophic study of phenomena—Principle of intrinsic certitude—What are "necessarily" truths?—Some are "self-evidently necessary"—These are ordinarily intued, at first, in an individual shape—Some ethical principles are self-evidently necessary—Bearing of ethical science on the establishment of Theism.

	PAGE
ART. V.—THE LAND QUESTION AND LAW REFORM	134
Cheap transfer and Law Reform are the present desiderata—History of legislation in this country on land transfer—Difference between Scotch and English conveyancing—Social and political aspects of cheap and easy land transfer—Asserted evils of primogeniture and settlement—Question of peasant proprietorships—These compared with la petite culture in France and other countries—The Irish land question.
ART. VI.—LEGENDS OF THE SAXON SAINTS	165
Comparison of present work with "Legends of St. Patrick"—Aim and character of the Saxon legends—"Odin the man"—"King Sigebert and Heida the Prophetess"—The Christian legends—That of King Oswy described—The imaginative scenes are of higher poetic merit than those founded on historical record—The legends written in blank verse: its merits—The poet's highest distinction is that he interprets Nature by religion.
ART. VII.—POPE LEO XIII. AND MODERN STUDIES	190
The object of the Encyclical Aeterni Patris to bring about unity in Philosophy—Sense in which the Church is committed to the Scholastic Philosophy—The Encyclical not a revolution—Sketch of the progress of Thomism during the last forty years—Sanseverino, Kleutgen, Werner—Necessity of unity—The Encyclical defines nothing as of Faith—It expresses the strong wish of the Pope for the general adoption of the Thomist Philosophy—Brief description of Scholasticism—The Letter does not touch Physical Science—Its effect on Theological teaching will be that St. Thomas will be followed, and more time will be spent on Catholic development.
ART. VIII.—THE ALLEGED GALlicANISM OF MAYNOOTH AND OF THE IRISH CLERGY	210
The charge made against Maynooth—Its refutation not a personal matter—The three parts of the charge—"Gallicanism" of the Irish Clergy—Alleged cultivation at Maynooth, for nearly half a century, of the Gallicanism of the Sorbonne—Statement that the treatise “ De Ecclesiâ ” of Delahogue is the faithful exponent of the Gallicanism of the Sorbonne—The “rigorism” of Maynooth derived from Roman, not French, sources—Testimony of Bishop Furlong.

LETTERS OF POPE LEO XIII.—1. On a new edition of the works of St. Thomas of Aquin. 2. On a new edition of the works of St. Alfonso. 3. On the establishment of the Société Scientifique of Brussels	254
NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	259
Katholik — Historisch-politische Blätter — Stimmen aus Maria-Laach — Literarische Rundschau — La Scuola Cattolica—Revue des Questions Historiques.
NOTICES OF BOOKS	269
Balfour's Defence of Philosophic Doubt—Mazzella's De Virtutibus infusis —Dr. Rohling's Salomonische Sprachbuch —Dr. A. Merx's Prophezei des Joel —Thomas ex Charmes, Compendium Theologiæ —Dr. H. Lämmer's Meleumatum Romanorum mantissa —The same, De Martyrologio Romano Parergon —Liebermann's Ungedrückte Anglo-Normannische Geschichtsquellen —Bishop Moran's Irish Saints in Great Britain —Spedding's Reviews and Discussions —Henry's Last Days of Bishop Dupanloup — Potter's Lancashire Memories — The Marquis of Bute's Roman Breviary translated.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
ART. I.—THE BIRTHPLACE OF ST. PATRICK	291
State of the question—Testimony of St. Patrick himself— Of St. Fiacc—Of the Vita secunda, tertia, and quarta — Of Probus and subsequent writers—Authority tells for Kilpatrick, near Dumbarton—Connection of old designa- tions: Nemthur, Campus Tabernæ, &c., with the Clyde Valley—Modern theories of Beare, Dr. Lanigan, Mr. Nicholson, and Rev. J. F. Shearman, examined and rejected.
ART. II.—HISTORY OF THE PRUSSIAN “KULTURKAMPF”	327
Legislation of years 1873–74—Conservatives and Liberals unite against the Church—Projected Falk Law laid before Chamber of Deputies—Its oppressive character— Is a violation of Arts. 15 and 18 of the Prussian Con- stitution—These Articles consequently altered—Falk Law of May passed—Its tyrannous action demonstrated —Unexpected resistance of Catholic Episcopate—Why unexpected—Imprisonment and exile—Gloomy outlook in 1874.
ART. III.—A PROTESTANT LIFE OF ST. HUGH	355
Modern Anglican writer the patron, not the client, of Mediæval Saint—Canon Perry’s account of St. Hugh’s esteem of relics—Of his “contempt” for miracles—Of his disregard for the pre-communion fast—Inability of the author to deal with the saint’s life—Bad results from Anglican treatment of our hagiography.
ART. IV.—RECENT RESEARCH ON THE NERVES AND BRAIN	372
Outline attempted of late investigation—Nature of nerve- force—Nerves and sensation—Ratio of intensity of sensation and of stimulus of sense-organ—Different nature of sensations—Manner of obtaining perceptions of extension—“Secondarily automatic” actions of spinal cord—Cerebrum and its functions—Three practical in- ferences.

	PAGE
ART. V.—A NEW LIGHT ON AN OLD SUBJECT	382
History of A Kempis controversy—Mgr. Malou's claim for A Kempis—Historic and manuscript evidence—A Kempis's life—Internal proofs of authorship—Writer a disciple of Groote—Writer also a Fleming—Proof from peculiar punctuation of original codex—Punctuation a key to its literary charm—Peculiar use of the four stops—Examples.
ART. VI.—LETTERS OF CHARLES DICKENS	409
Forms of personal interest in Dickens—His own view of his life in the Letters—Their revelation of him in his private life; as an author; as a public reader; and as a social reformer—The best of his teaching: indirect bringing together of the classes—His political views and religious opinions—His spirit of reverence—Possible evils if his power had been used less worthily—A thought of him “at his best.”
ART. VII.—TEXT-BOOKS OF PHILOSOPHY	439
Effect of the Encyclical Æterni Patris on the production of Text-books—Age at which youths should begin Philosophy—Text-books should be in Latin—The object of the curriculum of Philosophy—A Text-book should afford a training in “Distinction,” in “Abstraction,” and in “Reasoning proper”—Philosophy in English—The new work of Father Harper.
ART. VIII.—THE DISTRESS IN IRELAND	464
Reality of the Distress—Its geographical distribution—Description of, by various authorities—Causes of, chiefly the bad seasons—Remedies for—The Government measures—Private charity—The anti-rent agitation—Fixity of tenure—Peasant proprietorship—Operation of the Church Disestablishment Act of 1869, and of the Land Act of 1870—The Church surplus—Ireland's true greatness.
ENCYCCLICAL OF POPE LEO XIII. ON CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE	492

Contents.

iii

	PAGE
NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	507
Katholik — Historisch-politische Blätter — Stimmen aus Maria Laach—Historisches Jahrbuch—La Civiltà Cat- tolica—Revue des Questions Historiques—Revue Catho- lique.
SCIENCE NOTICES	517
The Panama Canal — Nordenskiöld's Expedition — Mr. Edison's Electric Lamp.
BOOKS OF SCIENCE AND TRAVEL	521
Stone's Few Months in New Guinea—Mathew's Up the Amazon and Madeira—Murphy's Sporting Adventures in the Far West—Hingston's The Australian Abroad— Rood's Modern Chromatics—Bunbury's Ancient Geo- graphy—Sandemann's Eight Months in an Ox Wagon— Vijn's Cetshwayo's Dutchman.
BOOKS ON HOLY SCRIPTURE	530
Salfeld's Das Hohelied Salomo's—Conder's Judas Mac- cabaeus—Kihn's Theodor von Mopsuestia—Barden- hewer's Polychronius—Cook's Speaker's Commentary— Conder's Handbook to the Bible — Farrar's Life of St. Paul.
NOTICES OF BOOKS	540
Scott's Foregleams of Christianity—Strange's Life of St. Thomas of Hereford—Cobbe's Workman and Soldier— Allies's Per Crucem ad Lucem—Nasmyth's Institutes of English Law — Hill's Historical Sketch of St. Louis University—Bertolotti's Esposizione della Filosofia di Rosmini—Catholic Birth-day Book—Birth-day Book of Quotations—Practical Notes on Moral Training— Baring-Gould's Germany, Past and Present—Jadart's Mabillon—Le Blant's Sarcophages de la Ville d'Arles— Evans's Reflections during Holy Communion—Ashwell's Life of Samuel Wilberforce — Gallwey's Lectures on Ritualism—Plumptre's Movements in Religious Thought —Elam's Winds of Doctrine—Macdevitt's Most Rev.

James Macdevitt—Doyle's Lectures for Boys—Hutton's Anglican Ministry—Lady Herbert's Dom Bartholomew of the Martyrs—Ward's Essays on the Church's Doctrinal Authority—The Pan-Anglican Synod before St. Augustine's Chair—Father Gams's Hierarchia Catholica.